Celebrating our 4 year anniversary!

Four years ago, Jennifer Porter Law began with a desk, a vision, and a mission: To create an efficient law firm where everyone (clients and the law firm team) are treated like they matter.

Today, we're a team of six women, and we're celebrating every case, every client, and every step that brought us here. We've resolved over 320 personal injury cases in these four years—and with every one, we've stayed true to what matters: helping people feel heard, protected, and empowered.

What set us apart?

Jennifer Porter has consistently kept the focus of strengthening our processes, adding client-focused improvements, and staying current with the latest legal education —because staying sharp matters. We don't do legal jargon. We keep things clear so you can make smart, informed decisions for your future.

That's what we mean by "no razzle dazzle." We offer plain-spoken guidance that makes sense and a team that cares.

BE PROACTIVE TODAY FOR A PEACEFUL TOMORROW

We're more than a law firm – we're your people. Here's who's behind every phone call, client concern, and legal strategy decision:

Jennifer Porter

Jennifer lives in the North Springfield/Annandale community in Northern Virginia. She is a mom of 3 teens, wife to a retired Navy veteran, and also mom to the sweetest little one-eyed dog.

Founder & Lead PI Attorney

Stephanie Himel-Nelson

Located in the Hampton Roads area of Virginia, Stephanie is also a mom of 3, wife to a retired Navy veteran, and one of the founders of a non-profit, Blue Star Families, which advocates for military families across the country.

Estate Planning for Parents of High School Grads

As your child tosses that graduation cap, you may be thinking about the future—both theirs and yours. Now's the perfect time to review your estate plan.

Here are 3 essential steps for parents of college-bound teens:

Create a Medical Directive for Your Child – At 18, you no longer have automatic access to their health information. A directive ensures you can speak for them in emergencies.

Review or Update Your Own Will – If your child is your beneficiary, make sure your wishes are clearly outlined and updated.

Consider a Trust for College Support – Help manage how and when your child accesses funds as they grow into adulthood.

your family moves into its next chapter.

THANK YOU!

We are only here 4 years later with a flourishing law firm practice because of the clients who entrusted us with their legal needs and the people in our community who have referred clients to us. Thank you for trusting us. Here's to four years—and many more—with clarity and compassion.
